

The Case of the # secret garden

COTSG

Like Sherlock Holmes, Monkey is a master of disguise and always willing to go undercover (like quilts) to do some incognito sleuthing.

He chose the appropriate camouflage to root around in the secret garden for Clue # 6.

We decoded his secret communiqué (next page):

1. No printing this week!
Please keep the rest of your light and dark fabrics where you can find them, okay?
2. Sew the rest of the A-B-C-D shapes together (curved seams).
Sew by hand or by machine or a little of both.
3. Sew 32 partial blocks.
4. Catch up on printing and cutting from previous clues, if necessary.

All of the shapes are printed from the New York Wheel shape collection, which is still on sale for a limited time. When you buy the shape collection, you also receive the Sunflower Quilt Design Book (PDF download, $20 value).

Previous clues are on the All About Inkingo blog.

You are invited to ask questions, share your insights, and collaborate on the clues with other detectives in the Inkingo Yahoo Group. It is a very friendly place and you can see the progress on other quilts for the Case of the Secret Garden. We'll be back with Clue # 7.
